DMIHER(DU) collaborate with NGOs to tackle the SDGs through student volunteering programmes, research programmes, development of educational resources

DMIHER actively collaborates with NGOs to address the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) through student volunteering, research, and educational resource development.

Under Student Volunteering Programmes, students participate in diverse activities, including general volunteering initiatives, Girl-Up campaigns, and organ donation awareness drives. Special focus is given to social welfare through activities for underprivileged and orphaned children, the Comprehensive Community Health Care Program (CHCP), and the Family Adoption Program, which emphasize holistic community upliftment and health promotion.

Through Research Programmes, DMIHER collaborates with NGOs to undertake impactful research projects addressing critical societal challenges. These projects aim to create innovative solutions while fostering sustainable development and community well-being.

Additionally, DMIHER supports the Development of Educational Resources by creating educational materials for the general public. These resources aim to enhance community awareness on various health and social issues, empowering individuals to make informed decisions and adopt sustainable practices.
